
PREFACE

The National Seminar will be held on February 22, 2022 virtually, the conference or the so-called N-CoME (National Conference on Management and Entrepreneur1) will be held virtually on April 23, 2022. National seminars and N-CoME 1 aim to bring together leading academics, young researchers to exchange the latest research ideas, methods, results, and share experiences, on all theoretical, experimental, and applied aspects in the era of society 5.0, in addition to implementing N-CoME 1 as efforts to facilitate and empower lecturers and students to conduct innovative human-centered research based on technology in the face of society 5.0.

We would like to thank all parties involved for the success of the National Seminar and N-CoME 2022, especially to the speakers and reviewers. They work very hard to supervise and review all activities and papers and provide valuable suggestions for authors to improve their research. In addition, we would also like to thank the external reviewers who provided extra assistance with the review process, and the authors who contributed their research to this conference.

We hope to see you all again at the next N-CoME.
